Oceanside Country Club Starts Multi-Million Dollar Renovation On Clubhouse

This will be the final phase of the club's $5.5 million project.

ORMOND BEACH—Oceanside County Club has begun renovating the interior and exterior of its clubhouse as the final phase in its full-fledged $5.5 million renovation. As a part of the project, the exterior of the building is getting all new windows, a reconfigured front entrance, and updates to all handicap access. There will be new lighting in the parking lot as well as new landscaping.

As for the interior of the building, members can expect to see a completely new men's and ladies' locker rooms — complete with spa-like finishes — and an all-new golf shop. The Grill Room will be expanded and updated with new carpet, furniture, and a highly-anticipated patio area. The patio will include multiple dining tables (some covered under a patio roof and some covered by umbrellas), lounging couches and a fire pit with a surrounding seating area.

Former clubhouse president Kathy Arnold said that the clubhouse is being renovated in sections so they can remain open for members sports and dining. The project is expected to be complete by Thanksgiving.

"The updates are going to open up the interior space, enlarge the casual dining areas and add outdoor patio dining," Arnold said. "It is the outside area I'm most excited about. The members have wanted that for years."
