

The Holiday Inn LPGA Daytona has exciting news!

Recently under new ownership, the 96-room hotel is announcing a new management team. Jacob Lafferty, General Manager, Keith Myhre, Food and Beverage Manager, Renee Rishel, Director of Sales, and Destiny Carter, Front Office Manager. The entire team leads with commitment to providing the ultimate experience for our guests.

Jacob Lafferty, General Manager is methodically raising the bar for our guests with integrity and leadership. He has served successfully in a myriad of hospitality positions which has prepared him to bring the Holiday Inn LPGA to the highest standards.

Renee Rishel, Director of Sales, states she is confident that with our dedication to excellence, we will be the “go to” hotel for corporate as well as leisure travelers. Renee Rishel comes to the area with over 10 years in hospitality sales and has an instinctive knowledge of first-class service.

The full-service hotel, known for their spacious rooms and suites will be going through complete renovations beginning this fall. The results are expected to be impressively stunning.

The hotel offers over 2000 square ft of meeting and banquet space with an expansive catering menu to facilitate your special events. The Fairway Bar and Grille is a convenient amenity with chef prepared meals and is open for breakfast and dinner.
